Council Sets Prices on The Town Buildings

Mr. Martin Oliver Engaged As Town Auditor

Town Council met in regular session last Monday evening with Mayor Sangster in the chair and councillors Rindahl, Moore, Evans, Newnam and Brydell present.

Van Vort waited on council and asked for the use of the vacant lot behind his building and Mr. McGimpsey's on Broadway, to be used for a tennis court.

On motion of councillor Rindahl the request was granted subject to the approval of adjacent property owners.

Mr. Martin Oliver of Medicine Hat applied for auditor for the town for 1936 at a price of $425.00 a year.

Moved by councillor Rindahl that the application of Mr. Oliver be accepted—Carried.

Mr. Rolman's request for an extension of lots was granted. On motion of councillor Rindahl.

Mr. Konrad's offer of $100.00 for building in Arlington district was accepted. Mayor Sangster read over the correspondence he had with Dr. Robinson, M.L.A. in connection with the proposed legislation which would deprive Redcliff of the service tax. The final letter from Dr. Robinson stated that this new act would not apply to Redcliff. The Mayor's action was endorsed on motion of councillor Brydell.

The request from the School Board for $1,000.00 for school purposes for April was approved for payment.

Mr. D. Furgel wrote offering $125.00 for house on B.J. St. previously owned by F.J. Bott. The offer was not accepted as the price had been set at $200.

Since last meeting councillors made a tour of inspection of several buildings belonging to the town and as a committee, of the whole prices were set on the buildings inspected.

Accounts as passed by the finance committee were approved for payment.

SCHOOL NEWS

The last meeting of the High School Literary Society was held on Wednesday April 1st. The editor read the last edition of the school paper and Mr. King gave the financial statement from the carnival. A discussion as to what meeting element they would get was held. Then Mr. King conducted the semi-finals of the oratorical competition. In conclusion business for the year votes of thanks were sent to the following people: to the churches for a loan of their curtains; to the town council for the loan of the Broadway Department Store; to the M.V.A. for the loan of their cups and saucers; and to the storekeepers for their co-operation.

Rosamund Rose and Doris Wyatt tied for the Easter prize for general proficiency during the school year. They received five dollars each.

A. Y. P. A Social Was Great Success

Was Well Attended and Enjoyable Evening Spent

A large and jolly crowd assembled at Cliff Hall last Monday evening for the Social event put on by the A.Y.P.A. of St. Ambrose Church.

The hall was artistically decorated for the occasion blended nicely with the variety of dresses worn by the ladies. The card contests and dancing program were liberally interspersed with musical selections, character set dancing, etc. and the favors distributed during the evening added much to the life and merriment of the occasion. All these with the excellent lunch served at midnight, made a successful and enjoyable evening, and the young people in charge carried out the program in a most courteous and business like manner.

In the card contests the prizes were won by Mrs. R. Davis and Mr. H. Leonard for bridge and by Mrs. C. Newnam and Mrs. A. Rose for what Consolation went to Mrs. Nesting and Mrs. B. Horne for bridge and to Mrs. Wheeler and Mr. H. J. Cox for whist.

Vocal selections were given by Miss Viva Cox, Miss Watkins and Mr. John Davies, all of which were nicely rendered and much enjoyed. Mr. Olmstead related much amusement with his shifty footwork in his character step dances.

On the whole the event was a pronounced success and was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

Promises To End Idleness in Two Months

St. Declares Premier in Address Last Sunday

"I hope in two months more we will have all our unemployed at work for wages," Premier Aberhart declared Sunday when he addressed the congregation at his Prophetic Bible Institute. The premier failed to qualify the statement or say how he expected to put the unemployed to work.

"I must not promise to much be added. 'I am going to the lower altitude at the coast. I give my heart a rest. When I come back here will be something.'

Another session of the legislature might be necessary in the late fall, Mr. Aberhart stated. But he added he was proceeding cautiously and not allowing his enthusiasm to run away with his better judgement.

The Gunderson Brick Plant Now in Operation

Prospects Good For Busy Season This Year

The Gunderson Brick & Coal plant has been operating the brick department here for the past two weeks and is turning out the fine quality of brick for which Redcliff is noted.

A full staff is employed and as reports from various section of the west are to the effect that building operations are most promising for this summer, there is little doubt that the brick plants here will have a busy season.

The Gunderson plant is supplying brick for the extensive alterations now being made at the Glass Factory here.

License Act Now in Effect in Province

Trades and Business Will Come Under Provisions

Far reaching in scope and covering the operations of over 10,000 firms in this province, the new provincial act providing for the licensing of trades and businesses came into operation Wednesday when it was proclaimed in the Alberta Gazette.

The licensing regulations will apply in particular to retail merchants in view of the "master code" having been proclaimed on April 6th. Also, food cleaners are affected as their codes also were proclaimed at the same time.

The licensing, however, will apply to all trades, businesses and occupations, whether they have "codes" or not, with the exception of certain exempted trades which are specified in the act.

Imperial Oil Co. Interesting Adverts.

Appearing in Review For Next Few Weeks

Imperial Oil advertisement appearing in the Review for the next few weeks will prove most interesting and the illustrations will also be educational to both young and old, showing the extensive developments and unlimited activities of this company.

In one of its circulars the company says: "It's a big job producing quality petroleum products for Canadians from coast to coast and from the International Boundary to the Arctic Circle. Even those of us associated with the Company fail to realize how big it is some times. That's why we are telling our story in pictures this week. These pictures will show graphically Imperial Oil's activities in production, refining, transportation, distribution, research as well as interesting eye-witness records of the manifold ways Imperial Oil products help to keep the wheels of Canadian life moving smoothly. It makes a great story—one which we are proud of—one in which we think the public will be interested."

New Legislation Does Not Effect Service Tax Here

Local Member Took Up Matter With Minister

Since our last issue in which mention was made of the proposed legislation which would deprive Redcliff of the service tax, Mayor Sangster received word from Dr. Robinson, on M.L.A., stating that the service tax which has been in operation here for some time past will not be interfered with by the legislation passed at the last session of the legislature.

Immediately on receipt of Mayor Sangster's wire and letter Dr. Robinson took the matter up with the Department of Municipal Affairs and brought to the Minister's attention the arguments put forth by Mayor Sangster and the position in which the town would be placed if the new act interfered with the Service Tax now in force here.

Dr. Robinson won his point and did the town a good service which is greatly appreciated.

School Pupils To Give Concert Friday April 24

Put On By Pupils Who Take Part in Festival

Teachers and pupils at the school are now busy preparing for the School May Festival to be held in Medicine Hat.

Those who are taking part in the festival will put on their program in the Little Theatre on Friday evening, April 24th, and it is hoped the citizens of the town will patronize the entertainment, as much of the success of the pupils at the festival will depend upon the support they get at home.

On the program there will be 40 performers gorgeously costumed, and the items will be made up of choruses, solos, recitations and four one-act plays.

The admission is only 35c for adults and 20c for students. Tickets will be on sale the first of the week. Be sure to get one and avoid disappointment.

The PERFECT Chewing Tobacco

Eradication Of Tuberculosis

Great forward strides have been made in the fight to stem the toll of human life taken by tuberculosis in the prairie provinces in the past few years but there are evidences that complete victory has not yet been won. There is more work yet to be done before this scourge of mankind can be said to have been totally routed.

As most residents of that province are aware, tuberculosis in Saskatchewan was some years ago brought virtually within the category of Bacteraemia. When the sanatoria were placed under the administration of the Saskatchewan Anti-Tuberculosis League, with authority given the League to impose an annual tax levy on all municipalities, rural and urban, which, supported by government grants, furnished the finances for treatment of all cases of the disease found within the province. In addition, it should be added, the funds for supplementary preventive work are secured from voluntary contributions realized by the efforts of Christmas sales.

While not quite patterned on the Saskatchewan system, the fight against the disease in Manitoba is waged along somewhat similar lines and at the time of writing the Alberta Legislature has a bill before it which will virtually place the war against T. B. in that province within the State Medicine plan, if adopted.

As a result of the work done in Saskatchewan during the past decade, that province can boast, and with justification, that it is in the van of the fight and has to date the lowest death rate from tuberculosis of any province in the Dominion, 30 per 1,000 deaths for last year.

Facts and figures show that, partly as a result of the preventive work, the incidence of the disease in Saskatchewan has passed the peak, that the former upward curve of the number of cases treated annually is now trending in a downward direction and that, as a further result, space in hospitals which have had to care for an overflow for years, is now being made in the sanatoria, is no longer required for T.B. cases. An additional result was that patients in the sanatoria can be held there for treatment longer than was formerly possible, thus improving their chances of complete recovery.

While this is all to the good, there yet remain two real hazards to be definitely eradicated. These are the menace afforded by the Indian and the cow.

In the early days when the Indians roamed the prairies and lived in the open tuberculosis was practically unknown among them. It was not until they were taught to adopt the habits of the whites and confine themselves in permanent houses that they became subject to tuberculosis. Since that time the disease has become rampant among the aborigines and it is taking heavy toll. In other words, the "wilder" presented the Indians with tuberculosis and today the Indians are returning the compliment by infecting the whites with whom they come in frequent contact.

Figures were recently quoted showing that the incidence of tuberculosis among the Indian population of the prairie provinces is ten times as great as among the white inhabitants and it appears that very little aid is present in being done to cope with the menace.

The Indians are the wards of the Federal government and this is a situation which should receive the immediate attention of the authorities at Ottawa. If the efforts of the provincial governments in reducing the disease among the other residents of the provinces are not to be at least partially negated.

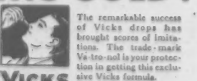

The other danger spot in the situation is the prevalence of bovine tuberculosis among cattle. While much has been done to reduce this disease among the cattle of the prairie provinces and to minimize the risk of infection from cattle to humans beings via the milk route, there is still danger of infection from this source and will continue to be until it has been entirely stamped out of the herds.

Erudition will not be complete until such time as compulsory inspection of cattle for bovine tuberculosis and slaughter of all reactors in the entire zone of the three provinces is in effect, but this consumption cannot be achieved until there is a sufficiently strong public demand for it. Until that time farmers and residents of the smaller towns and villages outside of the T.B. free zones are subject to risk of contagion by milk from cattle suffering from bovine tuberculosis. This risk, however, could be materially minimized if farmers and others owning milk cattle would to the maximum, have their cattle tested at their own expense and slaughter reactors. By so doing, they can at least afford protection for their own families and their homes.

It is true that such action might result in some immediate financial loss to cattle owners who take this precaution, but it might be less expensive in the long run than to continue to take chances of infection from that source.

May Move Woolwich Arsenal

Vulnerability Of London To Air Attacks Is Reason Given

New emphasis on the vulnerability of London to air attack is found in reports that the government is seriously considering moving magazines of Woolwich arsenal to more remote places in the British Isles.

Talk of its removal has given the arsenal no occasion to paint a picture of gas, incendiary and explosive bombs, raining down upon the city—a city which already knows from experience, of the terror of air raids.

It has provided proposals of a stronger air defence with new magazines in their clings—that London with its 8,000,000 inhabitants, and mostly accessible from the continent, is not protected against the bomb-lug plane.

Winston Churchill likened London to a "great fire" which would soon be at the mercy of the nearest "foraging dictator".

Public concern is likewise kindled by current discussion in the press and in parliament as to the ability of the navy to defend itself against air attack. Countering this, however, there is the expansion, both real and indicated, of the Royal Air Force, the development of air defence, the hinted discovery of anti-aircraft weapons which would enable it to hold its own, despite the fact London is but a matter of minutes from the continent by air.

Those who want the Woolwich arsenal moved claim it has so far been the "rat's nest" which "no" every defence plan yet devised for London. No way has been found, it is stated, of protecting the arsenal and rendering it immune from attack from the skies.

King's Birthday

His Majesty Will Ride At Head Of His Troops On Anniversary

King Edward will ride at the head of his troops for the first time as King on his birthday, Saturday, June 2nd, 1924.

It was officially announced His Majesty will be in London and at all stations of the royal navy, the army and the royal air force at home and abroad.

The principal function will be the trooping of the colors on the Horse Guards' parade. This was a ceremonial always observed by the King, George, and his late Majesty, King George, on his last birthday, June 3, his late Majesty rode at the head of his troops in the picture gallery.

His Majesty's ships will be dressed out for the occasion, and royal regiments of 21 guns will be fired at certain stations. Land forces will hold ceremonial parades.

War Is Still On

Due To Unhappiness In Participating In Signing Of Peace Treaties

A recent incident has revealed the fact that the republic of San Marino is still at war with Turkey. The manager of a Turkish agricultural institute recently spent a few months in Europe in connection with studies in agriculture. When he crossed into the territory of San Marino he was greatly astonished when he was arrested as a non-attachable national of a country at war with the republic.

In 1915 San Marino joined Italy in a declaration of war on Turkey, but, owing to some omission, it was invited neither to participate in the peace negotiations nor to sign the treaty of Lausanne with Turkey.

Subjects of the republic of San Marino in Turkey have always been treated as Italian nationals.

Must Be Good Material

Marines 50 Years Old Is Still Being Used

Some kind of material may be claimed for a set of harness in almost daily use in the Orkney district of Saskatchewan. The harness is said to be around 50 years in use, having come to the United States in 1870 and found its way via Minnesota to Saskatchewan. Formerly used to decorate thoroughbred stallions and mares, it is now used on ponies which draw children to school.

Testing Television System

British Broadcasting Company To Stage Program Very Soon

The world's first government-controlled television program is to be broadcast very soon when the British Broadcasting Company stages "broadcast" tests from Alexandra Palace.

Plans already are afoot to "broadcast" King Edward VIII, next Christmas Day, when the microphone to extend his Christmas greetings to the empire. If the royal coronation is successful, the King's coronation—probably in May or June of next year—will be televised from Westminster Abbey in all its centuries-old pomp and splendor.

Converting of Alexandra Palace, an ornate remnant of Victorian days, into a television station is being rushed, and postoffice engineers are laying the television cable, connecting London and Birmingham. The cable costs $5,000 a mile, but when completed will carry a load of 200 separate television transmissions when not in television use.

Birmingham probably will be the site of the test station. It would be able to take some of the program by the land-line cable from Alexandra Palace, which in turn can be connected with the television system. House six miles away in the heart of London and thence to "outside points" such as Westminster Abbey.

The only hitch is that few Britons will have television sets when the first "television" broadcast is made. They'll have to go to a theatre or public hall. Manufacturers, however, they are well equipped, moderately priced receiving outfit, cannot place them on the market with any guarantee of good reception until they have had an opportunity of cutting them in on regular transmissions from Alexandra Palace. The sets will cost $100 or three months after the first tests.

Broadcasting officials and equipment manufacturers say that "looking" will be as good as "seeing" and by next winter and that receiving sets will be sold at from $85 to $150.

Concession To Indians

May Carry On With Potlatch Ceremony In British Columbia

Indians of the Albet Bay district in British Columbia were given another chance by the House of Commons to practice their ancient potlatch, once a regular orgy but now more or less a thing of the past, dating back through the ages.

The potlatch has been dying out in recent years and is limited to Indians of the Kwakiwath agency on the Pacific coast who have refused to observe laws outlawing it. It is a sort of general spree in which all sorts of things, food, blankets, houses, are given away to their friends and give everything away. They have been known to impoverish themselves in the process.

The Indian act provides jail sentences for Indians practicing the potlatch, but the Albet tribe has disagreed. It is a House of Commons proposed a bill in the house making the laws still more stringent. It received second reading but it dropped the anti-potlatch clauses in committee stage after A. W. Neill (Ind. Can. Alberta) had a strenuous opposition to it.

The law sentences still stand but the house decided to permit the evolutionary influence of education, which has stamped it out almost, to continue to combat it.

Air Conditioned Trains

C.N.S. Lines To Adopt This Innovation Before Year 1925

Air-conditioning of principal lines of the Canadian National Railways system will be undertaken during the coming season. The first to be put in the House of Commons. While the board of trustees has not yet received any formal justification for any possible replacement of equipment, nor have there financial resources available for such a program, the air-conditioning of main passenger trains is a necessity.

During the year 1923 authority was given for the replacement of 10-12 units of obsolete equipment involving a charge against profit and loss account of $23,338,000. At the same time orders were placed for 100 generators essential to traffic requirements on the Grand Trunk western.

Home Life In Russia

Speaker Says Life In Russia Much More Comfortable Than In Other Countries

Rosses in Russia where whole families were crowded into one room and—four—three rooms were mentioned in an address at the Women's Canadian Club at Ottawa by Miss Helen Spauld, member of the League of Nations in London.

She then told of clubs in the same city where children from seven to 17 attend their own theatres and cinema, keep their white mice, canaries and other animals in "pet rooms," do their homework under the supervision of qualified teachers, and are allowed to choose or join an orchestra.

Home life in Russian cities today is much the same as in other countries, except for the "appalling" overcrowding, according to Miss Spauld, who said high blocks of flats and skyscrapers were being built, but could not keep pace with the increasing city populations.

Marriage in Russia has a normal family life. There are crèches and kindergartens for children of working mothers, clubs for adults and "magnificent" organized clubs for children. Education is optional for children from seven to seven years, and is compulsory for those from seven to 17.

The clubs are a useful innovation that owing to crowded home conditions have become necessary. The new cities are not quite so crowded, and conditions with families living in self-contained flats, with electric light and telephone are similar to those on this continent.

Marriage in Russia is permanent, divorces are still easy to obtain, but regulations relating to dissolving marriages are being tightened. "The Russians have seen their mistake," interest in the welfare of children is the main objective of the present laws.

Musician And Artist

Man Made Beautiful Violin From Matches And Toothpicks

Piece by piece, section by section, John Strickland, of Windsor, Ont., spent one year in making a violin of match sticks and toothpicks, which has "remarkable" instrument which experts say has tone and quality. More than 15,000 sections were matched with infinite care.

Not only a musician, John, 28 years of age, is an artist as well. On the reverse side of the violin, he has included the picture of a beautiful woman whose eyes alone complete 100 tiny pieces of wood; a rose whose every petal and thorn stand against the workmanlike background of the instrument's reversed side.

John's designs have been included among the grain of the thousands of matched pieces without affecting the match tone.

In some sections, John explained, the violin contains three thicknesses of match sticks and toothpicks, to give the proper strength and shape.

Efforts to keep alive the causative organism of leprosy have virtually exhausted the fact that the disease is not contagious. That is the conclusion of Dr. A. J. Taking as a basis for his work clinical tests that had been made at the Kailash Leprosy hospital, on the outskirts of Hong Kong, Dr. Salin successfully checked them for six months at the Federal leprosy station at Carville, La.

Recent Address Broadcast By Edward VIII. Was Good Example

The papers freely discussed the address delivered by King Edward VIII, on March 1, the first in his reign since ascending the throne. Considerable attention is given his choice of language and pronunciation, while it is realized that he used the word "radio," rather than "wireless," thus accepting the designation more common in Canada and the United States than in the Old Country. Another comment mentions his pronunciation of "radioactive" with the "r" as used in Canada and United States rather than the English "r-less" version. It seems to agree that he was a correct in his pronunciation as in his selection of terms in clothing, which is numerous, and in his choice of words.

It is pointed out for instance, that the new King was probably as nervous as any other ordinary man would be, especially when he spoke on such an auspicious occasion and, therefore, liable to some slight slip in pronunciation or choice of words. —Port Arthur News Chronicle.

Medals For Scouts

Two Alberta And Three Nova Scotia Scouts Receive Recognition

Ottawa.—Lord Tweedmouth, chief scout for Canada, awarded medals and certificates to two Alberta and three Nova Scotia Boy Scouts for gallantry in life saving.

Scouts Tony Orton and George McCallum of High River, Alta., received certificates of merit for the rescue last summer of a boy who had become exhausted and frightened while learning to swim in Baker creek.

Scout C. B. Young, Hanover, N.B., was awarded the silver cross, given for gallantry in serious cases, and the gilt cross was awarded to Scouts B. Kirkpatrick and W. Hanover, also of Hanover, N.B., for their steady work for the difficult rescue of two stater, aged 11 and 13, who were caught in a storm on the shore of Lake Umbagog in the month of November.

Advice From Chicago

Two Women Called League Delegates To Exercise Caution

Just before the session of the League of Nations' council was to start on March 11 a messenger boy peddled up to St. James' Palace bearing 14 urgent communications, one to the head of each delegation.

They were from two Chicago women, the delegates to exercise the calmest and most thoughtful statesmanship while dealing with the Turkish situation.

"Aren't people funny?" "Yes. If you tell a man that there are 278 million people in the world, he'll believe you—but if a sign says 'Fresh Paint,' that same man will make a personal investigation."

Good skating advice given by the Ontario Skating League—ice one inch thick, keep off; two inches thick, one may; three inches thick, small groups; four inches thick, safe.

Here and There

Barrow, Alaska, sets this year's record for the first official report on work on the land, according to a message received March 19 by the Agricultural Department of the Canadian Pacific Railway from the Winnipeg, The last year was from Tabor, Alaska, which has held the record for five years, on March 21.

Alfred S. McKay, recently elected president of the Southern Alberta Pioneers' and Old-Timers' Association, is one of the two surviving members of the survey party which charted the route of the Canadian Pacific Railway across prairies and mountains in 1880-1882.

Interviewed at Victoria recently, W. M. Neal, vice-president of western lines, Canadian Pacific Railway, stated that he anticipated one of the highest travel years in recent Canadian history. There had been, he said, a substantial improvement in passenger travel business last year which is expected to continue this year.

Changes in hotel management in western Canada are announced by H. F. Stahewe, general manager Canadian Pacific Hotel system as follows:—E. Chatter, manager Hotel Vancouver, appointed assistant general manager of the company's hotels in western Canada, succeeding A. E. Robertson;—Edna, Colin P. Pratt, manager Palliser Hotel, Calgary, becomes manager Hotel Vancouver with W. J. Myllet, succeeding Mr. Pratt as manager of the Palliser.

Vancouver Island, known as the historical cradle of the Pacific Northwest, is to be featured this summer by a special cruise of the Princess North, of the Canadian Pacific B.C. service, which will make a complete circuit of the island, leaving Vancouver at 2 p.m., July 13, for a seven day trip in the pulse of the early explorers.

During the winter season just passed, there was witnessed the greatest step forward in skiing travel ever recorded. Over 21,000, more than a fifth greater than last year, made journeys over the week-end from Banff to ski territory in the Laurentians, the mountain paradise to the north of Montreal thoroughly covered by Canadian Pacific Railway. Many came from cities in the Eastern United States to enjoy the sport.

Nine weeks have been named and arranged for Vancouver's Golden Jubilee celebrations starting this summer but the festivities will cover the whole season and are expected to attract visitors from all over the world. One of the high lights will be the re-enacting of the arrival of the first Canadian Pacific train half a century ago.

Thirteen short European cruises from British ports will be made between May and October by the Canadian Pacific liners Montclair and Montcalm this year. The Baltic and the Mediterranean will be covered extensively in these voyages.

Dr. A. H. Compton, physics research expert recently returned from a trip to Honolulu on the S. S. Austral, after studying attentiveness of the cosmic ray in the southern hemisphere. A specially constructed house on the liner's after-deck contained the delicate apparatus for the purpose of securing more data on the little-known but ever present ray during the ship's Antipodean trip.

With Premier Abernethy promising to put 10,000 unemployed to work "thortly," prospects are looking better.

No. 3

Stephen Butler Leacock, economist and humorist, noted for his humor and said four times as much for it by those who love to read it than for his economy by the students of McGill University, where he heads the Department of Political Economy thirty-five years ago. He is a native of England, stands five foot eight, weighs 145 lbs. and is a thick iron grey hair and a Croucho Marx mustache.

Leacock would never vote out of respect for women. They don't in Quebec, the only place in the Empire where women have no vote. He wears a widely discussed comb that cuts the curls of all suit-wearers and the envy of many a museum. Eight generations of moths have been born in it. Like Mark Twain and Charles Dickens and has written about both. Will be last remembered for November 1904 of twenty years or more ago. Trade With Mother Land

Should Form Practical Demonstration Of Regard, Says Massey

Canada's growing importance as an industrial country was stressed by Hon. Vincent Massey, the Dominion's high commissioner to London, at a luncheon given by the Canadian Chamber of Commerce in Great Britain.

He believed that between Canada and the United Kingdom "could form a practical demonstration" between the two countries of their regard for an interest in each other, and lauded the economic progress in the Old Country.

The Dominion was often visualized as a land of open space with a population almost entirely rural, said Mr. Massey. But Canada was becoming more and more an industrial country. She possessed a permanent seat on the governing body of the International Labor office at Geneva as one of the 10 countries of chief industrial importance. The chairman of that body was at present a Canadian (Dr. Walter Dill Scott, Dominion representative at Geneva).

Trade could prosper only in an atmosphere of mutual confidence, with mutual support between public administration and private enterprise, he declared. Britain had made a happy compromise between these principles in the British Industries fair. At the recent fair Canada had to exhibit more than to have more next year, said the high commissioner.

Empire trade need not impair world trade, said Mr. Massey. It was in that spirit that Britain had made trade agreements with foreign countries and Canada would conclude an agreement with the United States "an agreement which has not contravened either the letter or the spirit of the Ottawa agreements."

"Every day I am amazed at the achievements of this country in its path along the road to recovery," he said. "Her methods, not spectacular but solid and sound, result in making us Canadian proud of our kinship."

"Canada should know more of what is going on here in order to bring the picture of developments to date not only in material progress but in social and economic organization and the development of higher forms of community life and activity."

Sir Hewitt Stikner, president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce in London, presided.

Highly Organized Business

Mining Is Not A Gamble Says Lord Tweedsmuir

Belief Canada was the richest mineral area on earth which "my grandfather's grandchild" would not exhaust," was expressed at Ottawa by Lord Tweedsmuir, governor-general, to the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy.

Speaking at a dinner closing the three-day meeting of the Institute, Lord Tweedsmuir estimated that "no longer a gamble except in its first stage. It steadily becomes a highly organized business and an exact science."

Colonel George C. Cole of Winnipeg, director of the mine branch department of mines and natural resources, was installed president of the Institute.

Seems To Settle It

Harvard's Traffic Research Staff Says Men Best Drivers

While it would be difficult to say what would be gained by settlement of the perennial controversy as to whether men are better drivers of motor vehicles than women, an expert on Harvard's traffic research staff says there is no doubt about the matter. Men excel in the physical skill and mental energy needed in operation of an automobile. And it does stand to reason that men, because of training, experience and mode of life, should be better equipped than women to drive a motor car and react properly to emergencies—Baltimore Sun.

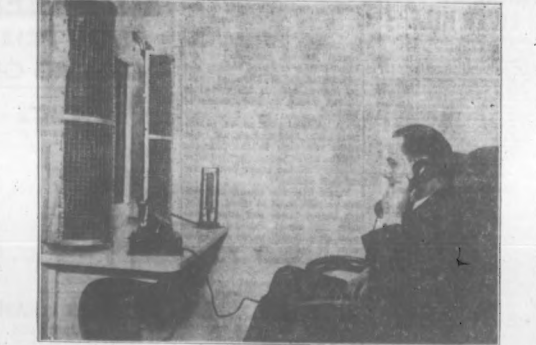

No Sweepstakes

Newfoundland's commission government refused a proposal to set aside $2,000,000 annually in a "national sweepstakes." Approval for the sweep was sought by influential citizens following a meeting conducted by Hon. Peter Cuthbert, former minister of finance, H. Cowan and R. Hills.

King Had Not Changed Attitude

King Edward Is Keenly Interested In Helping Poor

Lord Melchett, speaking at an Institute of Metals dinner in London, said that King Edward VIII, after visiting the great new liner Queen Mary and the splendid Glasgow slums, turned to some one near him and asked: "How do you reconcile a man who has produced this mighty ship with the slums we have just seen?"

The light which this incident throws on His Majesty's attitude towards the underprivileged is wholly in keeping with his long sustained activities in trying to benefit the poor while he was Prince of Wales, and with his success in getting the present extensive slum clearing and rebuilding scheme under way in many cities of the Old Land.

It is well known that the new King is as strongly opposed to war as he is to poverty. His hostility to armed conflict dates from the awful scenes which he witnessed on the Western Front from 1914 to 1918. He is popular in many countries of the European continent, and we have no doubt that he is using his personal influence within constitutional limits towards the maintenance of peace.

It is, indeed, rumored and widely believed that His Majesty had to do with getting the League of Nations Council to meet in London instead of Geneva. The report is that he made this suggestion to Premier Baldwin with the thought that the British capital offered a happier setting for the meeting than the Peace Palace itself. The King's whole personal sympathy and influence were behind the efforts of the British Government to compose the differences between Germany and France, and to bring about a lasting understanding between the conflicting groups of nations—with a view to lasting world peace.

Kipling Manuscript Sold

Original Manuscript Of "The Absent-Minded Beggar" Goes To New York

The original manuscript of Rudyard Kipling's South African war poem, "The Absent-Minded Beggar," was auctioned to Gabriel Wells of New York for £250 (about $4,150). The auctioning recalled the unusual circumstances under which the poem was written, at a time when Kipling was at his hotel in London Northcliffe had offered the poet and author $250 for a poem in connection with a national appeal for the dependents of those at the front in the Boer war.

Sponsors of the plan were disappointed at the "fingering chord" Northcliffe's assistant, Kennedy Jones, termed it of "The Absent-Minded Beggar," but the poem produced £100,000 (about $500,000) in three months.

Cole Land To Canada

The French chamber of deputies adopted a bill authorizing the alienation of five acres of land contiguous to the Canadian cemetery at Vimy Ridge. The land was bought by the French state for presentation to the Canadian government in perpetuity in order to enable improvement at the cemetery to be carried out.

A Logical Explanation

Etiologist Tells How Word "Applause" Became slang Term

A famous etiologist who was trying to trace down the origins of some of our modern slang expressions came to the word "applause," which moderns sometimes use in place of "honey," "baby," "other vulgarisms." It seems that a little story which was quite the other way round.

There were seven children and eleven apes, which were to be distributed equally among the seven children. The question was how to accomplish the distribution in the simplest manner. The answer was, obviously, to make apes of the story became so treasured that as soon as any one started to tell it there was an immediate about of "applause." Hence the present usage of the word.

Wolf Catches Down Sapling

Attempts Escape After Being Tied To Three-Body Birch

From now on John Trenggling, Rock Lake, Ont., will pick something more substantial than a white birch three inches in diameter for fastening his wolf snare in.

While out visiting his trap-line, he found he had snared a wolf which had caught the field and made up the bluff trailing the white birch with it.

Further investigation revealed the wolf had chewed through the three inches of sapling to free itself and had gone away with snare, sapling and all.

Making It Clear

A Londoner rang up to inquire the fare to Baling, but the man at the other end of the line couldn't catch the name of the station, so in desperation, he asked the inquirer to spell it. The reply came as follows: "B—for 'Bert,' A—for 'the 'veres' hall, L—for 'we're you seen when you see a hagg, G—for 'long pause,' G—for 'long'."

An ounce of spider's web would extend $20 million, it's straightened out.

London's Royal Bankers

Every Member Of Coutts' Staff Wears Frock Coat

One organization to which the official outfitting of the frock coat concerns is Coutts and Co., the bankers, whose grey stone-faced building at 440, Strand, London, W.C.2. houses and stands for all that is traditional in the dignified business of banking, and Coutts are the Royal Bankers.

Every member of Coutts' staff, from the chairman down to the most junior of junior clerks, wears a frock coat.

They come in ordinary clothes, but the frock coat at the bank. Behind the counter they look dignified, nineteenth century. When they come from behind the counter customers see trousers of grey serge, brown velvet, poking out from the frock coat.

Every member of the staff, with one exception, from the board downwards, is clean-shaven. The exception is the police, well-spoken commissionaire.

To Coutts, therefore, the frock coat is something of a problem. For the frock coats provide Coutts with a wardrobe which no other bank in the world possesses. The frock coats go with the quill pens on the desks of the clerks of the bank to their writing, and with the glass cases in which reposit pieces of correspondence which passed between the bank and some of its famous clients, including the Earl of Chatham, Charles James Fox, the Marquis of Salisbury, and the Duke of Devonshire.

As soon as the King's visit about frock coats at Court became known, distinguished clients asked Coutts whether they also would drop their frock coats. The secretary said: "No matter how fashions change, we would not drop them with the frock coat."—From British Cavalier.

May Rebuild Paris

Huge Scheme To Modernize City And Surrounding Country

A gigantic plan for the complete reconstruction of Paris and the district within a radius of 25 miles round has been drawn up and submitted to the public for criticism and suggestions by the Paris and neighbouring municipal councils. The plan, which will cost millions of dollars, provides work for tens of thousands of men next winter for years to complete, for the first of what is hoped will be a network of such plans modernizing the whole of France.

Nothing is overlooked in this plan, from traffic control to the preservation of beauty in countryside and town.

Strategic roads to connect Paris with other great cities of France will relieve traffic congestion in the capital and provide a means of quick evacuation in the event of war.

Work has already begun on this part of the plan, for which $40,000,000 was voted last September. The "pull down the slums" movement—which will affect Montmartre and the Latin Quarter—is included in the plan for a bigger and better Paris.

Special attention will be paid to housing for the workers, modernization of schools, and provision of playing fields and recreation grounds for children.

Fast Trains

Speeding Up Service Brings Better Results In United States

A vigorous push to languishing passenger business has been given by new speeders of the rails whose shiny, bullet noses split the air at speeds up to 100 miles an hour. United States rail management reporting the accomplishment of 12 such trains that have been in operation about a year, say they not only have won back much of the public attention which was focused on air and highway transportation but have created a new and broader "passenger market." The trains often average better than 60 miles an hour on scheduled runs, hitting between 80 and 100 on open stretches.

Held Meetings As Coast

The executive committee of the Association of Canadian Clubs decided at a meeting at Ottawa that the conference of the association be held June 25 and 26 in Vancouver and June 27 in Victoria. The choice of the cities as the meeting place was made at the conference in Toronto two years ago.

Salmon Industry Is A Valuable Asset

Single B.C. District Put Million Dollars Into Circulation In 1935

One million dollars went into circulation among the butchers and grocers and cashing in the pockets of other Canadian producers and merchants as a result of sockeye salmon fishing in one British Columbia district last year.

A million dollars! A lot of money. It meant a good deal to merchants and to manufacturers whose goods the merchants sell. And all over the Dominion different branches of the fishing industry were paid other large sums in circulation among stores and factories and clerks and artisans and other workers. It's a short sighted person who thinks of the fishing industry as important in fishing settlements only.

The particular district in question here was made up of Rivers and Smith Inlets and a million dollars was what the sockeye salmon brought in at retail prices. Or, in other words, the fishermen took that much money from their pockets and put it out into circulation. It had made substantial outlays on operating capital and for living expenses. The fishermen of the bank do taken in this district in 1935 than in any other single area in British Columbia. The sockeye salmon is not always leads in this regard, and the catch was sufficient to produce about 100,000 cases of canned fish—forty-eight one pound cans each.

Between two and three thousand fishermen share in the industry. Making the catch, which was all taken by means of gill nets, and they worked fast. The fishermen for the legal sockeye fishing season, that section of the coast last year was only five weeks. They shared the million dollars, too, but to have two, that statement bald and unqualified would be very likely to leave also a misleading impression. It is the amount of money the fishermen can earn in the course of a year. Sockeye are abundant in the Pacific Ocean. If they are taken in abundance the fishermen may do fairly well from the dollars and cents standpoint while the sockeye season is short that season is comparatively short, whether at Rivers and Smith Inlets or elsewhere. In other times when salmon fishing is in progress, and there are a number of months of the year when there is very little fishing, the fishermen, instead of taking sockeye, must rely for their livelihood upon other species which bring smaller returns.

Ideal Radio Speaker

King Edward Makes Meaningful Words Without Unpleasant Words

Broadcasting House, according to the United States Broadcasting Board, the voice of King Edward VIII. is "technically as good for the purpose in hand" as his father's was. The king's speech, as his father did, and follows the modern style in cutting out all rhetorical flourishes. "pull down the slums" movement—which will affect Montmartre and the Latin Quarter—is included in the plan for a bigger and better Paris.

Special attention will be paid to housing for the workers, modernization of schools, and provision of playing fields and recreation grounds for children.

The Herald Of Progress

Advertising Pays Large Part In Success Of Business

Advertising is like war news from the front. The popular rail management reporting the accomplishment of 12 such trains that have been in operation about a year, say they not only have won back much of the public attention which was focused on air and highway transportation but have created a new and broader "passenger market." The trains often average better than 60 miles an hour on scheduled runs, hitting between 80 and 100 on open stretches.

People in this country like advertising because it is a concrete expression of their desires, and a promise of one more advance towards what they want. Advertising draws its power from the self-interest of the reader. It is successful because the reader knows it is to his advantage to respond to advertising.

Advertising, like every other enduring phase of business, exists because it is aiding society to create its masterpiece of better living.

Claims Gazette Unread

Publication of the Labor Gazette is a waste of money in the opinion of San Jose (Calif.) Chamber of Commerce. He told the House of Commons so when Hon. Norman Rogers, minister of labor, sought approval for the estimate of $300,000 to cover the cost of printing the monthly magazine which the labor department has issued for many years.
